The wine estate Juliusspital

Julius Echter, Prince Bishop of Würzburg, founded the charitable and non-profit foundation Juliusspital in 1576 along the lines of the Hospices de Beaune. To this day, the Juliusspital foundation still runs a hospital, a nursing home as well as a number of institutions of public need. The proceeds from the wine estate support these social tasks.

The wine estate owns vineyards all across the Franconian area and also in each of the top five sites: Würzburger Stein, Randersackerer Pfulben, Iphöfer Julius-Echter-Berg, Rödelseer Küchenmeister and Escherndorfer Lump. Silvaner is the predominant grape variety, but classic grape varieties like Riesling or Pinot grapes are also cultivated.

The different types of soil and micro-climates of the sites are the reason for the variety and individuality of the Juliusspital wines. The ecologically compatible cultivation in our vineyards (which requires a great deal of hand labour), and the fact that we strictly limit our yields further accentuate the character of our wines.

The wines are fermented in stainless steel or in big wooden barrels. Some of the oak barrels in the historical cellar are over a century old. In the end, our wines are mostly bottled in the “Bocksbeutel”, the traditional bottle of the Franconian region.

THE FOUR TIERS OF VDP.CLASSIFICATION

VDP.GROSSE LAGE – GROSSES GEWÄCHS

VDP.GROSSES GEWÄCHS – The peak of the pyramid
VDP.GROSSE LAGE designates the very best vineyards of Germany, within which the finest parcels have been narrowly demarcated. With their site-specific characteristics, these wines are particularly expressive and have exceptional aging potential. They are planted with traditional varieties best suited to a particular site, as determined by each region.

VDP.ERSTE LAGE

VDP.ERSTE LAGE - First class

VDP.ERSTE LAGE designates first-class vineyards with distinctive characteristics. They provide optimal growing conditions, as evidenced over a long period of time. They are planted with traditional varieties, as determined by each region.

VDP.ORTSWEIN

VDP.ORTSWEIN – Sourced from superior soils

VDP.ORTSWEINE, or village wines, originate from a village's good, traditional vineyards that are planted with grape varieties typical of their region. Yield restrictions are also a criterion for wines of this category.

VDP.GUTSWEIN

VDP.GUTSWEIN – Good from the ground up

VDP.GUTSWEINE, or regional wines, originate from an estate's holdings within a region. They are entry-level wines that meet the general quality standards prescribed by the VDP and provide a good introduction to the VDP's hierarchy that inherently links wine quality with origin.

VDP.GROSSE GEWÄCHSE (GG)

GREAT GROWTH, GRAND CRU

These premium dry wines originate from the very best vineyards in Germany, the finest parcels have been narrowly demarcated and classified. With their specific natural characteristics these top sites provide optimal growing conditions for the grapes.

Besides the vineyard parcels, the region's traditional grape varieties are also determined and classified for the GG's. The maximum yield is restricted to 50hl/ha. In addition, the grapes have to be harvested by hand while the sugar content has to be at least at Spätlese level.

After a cool and slow fermentation, the wines are matured for six months on their fine yeast in big old wooden barrels, at approximately 30%, and in 500 litre tonneaux barrels.

These wines reflect the optimum of each vintage. They show a unique character due to their mineral structure but also through their complex and expressive flavor. These wines made for special moments and have an exceptional aging potential.
